Stadium Committee Is Completing Plans

Stadium Chairman, LeRoy Miller, stated this week that his committee is ready to let a contract on the construction of the new stadium. This can only be done after all persons signing commitments have gone to the bank and completed their "arrangements".

Miller said that the committee had not bothered the football supporters much through the holidays but the time has now arrived when they must know exactly how much money is available. It is impossible to let a contract without having the money.

He encouraged those who have not signed their bank notes to do it this week for sure. Miller also mentioned that there are still some good reserved seats left if anyone is interested.

Curtis Baptist To Hear Auburn Footballers

Two Auburn University football players will return to the New Ebenezer (Curtis) Baptist Church, January 17 and 18, to lead in a weekend youth revival.

The Rev. Warren Tarno, now in his third year at Baptist Bible Institute, Graceville, Florida is pastor.

Mike Kolen, Auburn team captain and linebacker, and John Riley, kicking specialist, will sing and speak.

"Both are very active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes," Mr. Tarno said.

The players will be in charge of two services - 7:00, Saturday evening, and at the 11:00 a.m. service, Sunday. There will be refreshments and a fellowship period for youth of the area following the Saturday service.

Kolen and Riley led in similar youth services in January, 1969. Mr. Tarno said, resulting in demands from the members for their return.

Preparations include letters to other athletes of the area, and contacts with local pastors. Mrs. Wilbur Donaldson, church hostess, and Mrs. Richard Jacobs are in charge of refreshments.

The Council of Evangel College is an organization of business and professional men interested in development of the college. They have spearheaded the college's building program.

Evangel College, Springfield, Mo., is the national four-year accredited college of arts and sciences of the Assemblies of God.

Resolve To Prevent Attack

"Resolved, I will act now to reduce my risk of heart attack,"

This New Year's resolution was suggested for adoption by all residents of this city by the Alabama Heart Association, which suggested these steps:

1. Eat less saturated (animal) fats, getting a larger portion of your fat requirements from polyunsaturated (vegetable) fats, and avoiding high-cholesterol foods.

2. Don't smoke cigarettes. Cigarette smokers have more than twice the risk of non-smokers of having a heart attack.

3. Maintain normal weight. Middle-aged men who are 30 per cent or more over their normal weight have twice the risk of heart attack as compared with middle-aged men of normal weight.

4. Adopt a program of regular exercise that is compatible with your age and physical condition.

5. See your doctor regularly for a physical check-up, enabling him to begin prompt treatment of any high blood pressure or diabetes that may be present.

The Heart Association noted that heredity, maleness and age also are predisposing factors. While the individual cannot do anything about these problems, he can improve his health and reduce his risk of premature heart attack by minimizing the risk factors listed above.

There is no guarantee that any person will escape a heart attack by following these precautions, said the Association, but there is ample evidence that thousands of lives can be protracted by making simple changes in one's living habits.

"Consider just one risk factor, namely, cigarette smoking," said the Association. "If smokers enjoyed the same relatively favorable mortality experience as non-smokers, about 70,000 fewer people would die of heart attack each year."

Another important way to reduce the risk of heart attack, it suggested, is to give full support to the 1970 Heart Fund Campaign, which will be conducted here and throughout the United States during February.

Westside Holds 'Watch Night'

The Westside Baptist Church of Elba, for the first time in its history, concluded the year 1969 with a Watch Night Program, the theme being, "The Bells Are Ringing."

The program was concluded with the ringing in the New Year of 1970.

The program began at 7:30 with supper served by several men to some 60 people attending. Following supper at 8:30 games were played and enjoyed by all from little children through the senior adults. The bells rang at 9:30 for a "This Is Your Life" of Mr. W. C. Mooney, Mr. K. H. Johnson, and Mr. Jerome Baxley. Pictures were gathered from as early in their childhood as could be found and placed in order of age with some comments as to things fun, moony and serious that happened to them.

Mooney is Chairman of Deacons, Mr. Baxley is Training Union Director. The bells were rung for food and fellowship with some old time singing all in fun. Drawing near the 11:00 hour a more serious note was heard from the bells. The Fellowship became Worship and a movie of Daniel with a brief devotional and scripture helped ring out the old and ring in the New Year of 1970.

D. E. Beasley is pastor.

Conservation Needs Rural - Urban Cooperation

Townpeople and farmers are working closely together for conservation of the Alabama Agricultural Stables and Conservation (ASC) program.

Provision is also made under the ASC for conservation practices by individual farmers and for more extensive measures which require pooling of efforts by farmers and ranchers.

All ACP practices whether special projects, pooling agreements or those on individual farms, must provide conservation benefits in the public interest.

"Our ASC Committee men and employees welcome opportunities to discuss ACP before any group or organization interested in conservation," Chairman Ellis said.

An allocation of $83,145, 00 has been made for the 1970 ACP in Coffee County. The ASC Committee Chairman pointed out that Coffee County farmers and ranchers would contribute at least as much and probably more from their own pockets to do conservation work under ACP.

"Clearly, both the public and agriculture have big stakes in the ACP. It's a conservation partnership problem," Mr. Ellis said.

These accidents bring the number of people killed in Alabama for the year 1969 to 931 compared with 964 killed in 1968.

This was an increase of 67 fatalities. So far 11 accidents with no injuries people have been killed in fatal traffic fatalities in this year no people have been killed in fatal traffic fatalities as compared with 6 at the same time last year.

Teens Tackle Birth Defects Problem With the Emphasis on Prevention

Zest, enthusiasm, competence—these are the words that best describe the young members of the March of Dimes Teen Action Program.

Led by Kathy Garver, who stars in "Family Affair" on CBS television, the TAPs are junior volunteers. They were organized in 1964, and today they are an integral part of the National Foundation-March of Dimes' task: The fight to prevent birth defects.

Who are these teen-agers? And what exactly are they doing? Let's take Alan Rosenthal of Miami, Fla., as an example.

Alan, 17, first became involved in the TAP program when he was a high school junior. Here's how it happened, according to Alan: "March of Dimes, the Dade County TAP Chairman, approached me at school one day and said, 'Alan, I've got a job for you. The next thing I know, I was on a plane headed for Salt Lake City and a National Youth Conference on Birth Defects.' That's where it all began."

LUNCH TIME is fun time for Natacha Figueroa (center) and her fellow patients at Jackson Memorial Hospital's Birth Defects Center, because Teen Action Program volunteers like Vicky Seader and Carlos Perez visit the children and help feed them. This is just one of many projects sponsored by TAPs in their nationwide effort to fight birth defects.

for Alan, inspired by the conference, he returned to Miami determined to do something about the great destroyer which attacks some 250,000 American babies every year. He became chairman of Project Concern Youth Council, a group of teen-age representatives from each of Dade County's high schools, who serve as liaison between the Dade County March of Dimes Chapter and their various student bodies.

A Nationwide Movement. Under Alan's leadership, Project Concern organized the teen-agers of Dade County in fund raising and community service projects for the March of Dimes. They raised money for the Birth Defects Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital through a bread sale and a fashion show. They helped feed the children at the Birth Defects Center. They painted a Birth Defects Center cottage at the hospital and the entire March of Dimes Headquarters. And most important, these teen-agers continually inform each other and involve more young people in March of Dimes public health education efforts.

These activities are typical of what TAPs are doing throughout the country. In Kern County, Calif., they are working in a March of Dimes prenatal care program for Spanish-speaking migrant workers. In Rochester, N.Y., TAPs make puppets for handicapped children at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center there. At a recent teen fair in Marin County, Calif., they are working as volunteers at a Genetics Evaluation Center. Everywhere, they have proven their worth as workers and communicators. The Chairman

Teens Are Concerned

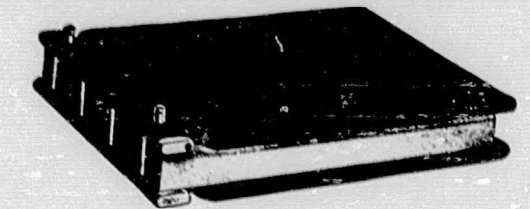

And these concerned teen-agers don't give up their TAP activities when they graduate from high school. They have gone on to form a new program on college campuses throughout the country. Now members of CAP (College Action Program) are continuing their March of Dimes community service and public health education activities during their college years.

Alan, too, is busier than ever, as a premedical student at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

"I hope someday to combine my science background with my concern for society and working with people," says Alan. "But the important thing is to get involved and stay involved. That's why I'll always be part of the March of Dimes—because the people who get things done, first in the fight against polio and now in the great battle to prevent birth defects."

THE STATE MOTOR POOL, located adjacent to the State Capitol in Montgomery, will soon save Alabama taxpayers $1,000,000 per year, according to a year-end report released by Governor Albert Brewer. Some 140 automobiles are now in the pool.

State Motor Pool To Save Alabama Taxpayers Money

Automobiles in the State Motor Pool were driven the equivalent of 100 trips around the world during the 1968-69 fiscal year.

The actual average cost of operating the pool cars was 3.9 cents per mile, but an additional 2.5 cents per mile was added to the monthly departmental bills to provide revenue to purchase new cars.

Complete records of the pool's first full fiscal year of operation - from October 1, 1968 through Sept. 30, 1969 - show that the cars were driven a total of 2,528,456 miles by state employees.

The actual average cost of operating the pool cars was 3.9 cents per mile, but an additional 2.5 cents per mile was added to the monthly departmental bills to provide revenue to purchase new cars.

Governor Albert Brewer initially established the Motor Pool by Executive Order. The pool became the "law of the state" on October 1, 1969 under the provisions of an act passed by the Alabama Legislature.

"We have been extremely pleased at the success of the Motor Pool," Governor Brewer said. "We had some growing pains in the beginning, but due largely to the excellent cooperation of the employees, the pool is now working well."

The governor predicted that pool cars would be driven far more miles during the current fiscal year.

"More departments are taking advantage of the savings they can realize from the use of pool cars, and we have substantially increased the number of cars assigned to the pool," he added.

COUPLE EXCHANGED VOWS

Mrs. William J. Hollinghead

Miss Conya Cooper
Feted With Luncheon

Miss Conya Cooper, whose wedding will be an event in late January, was honored with a luncheon on Saturday, December 20th, when Mrs. Oliver Williams and Mrs. Robert Cannon entertained at the home of the latter on Red-dick Hill Road.

The reception rooms were decorated for the holiday season in the Victorian manner. Swags of holly hung over the mantel which held massive brass candlesticks and red candles. Bells fashioned of holly and red velvet ribbon were suspended at the windows and the Christmas tree was decorated with old-fashioned ornaments. A silver pitcher placed on the piano held sprays of red berries and camellias. The dining table was covered with a cloth of Venetian linen and cutwork and Miss Melba Lynn Judah, became the bride of William J. Hollinghead on Saturday, December 6. The double-ring ceremony was held in the New Haven Baptist Church at 7 o'clock in the evening with Reverend Robert E. Ellis officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Agnes Judah and the late Thomas Judah of Elba and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hollinghead of Elba.

Miss Jonell Parris of Elba, pianist, accompanied Rev. Royce Wise of Samson as he sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

White tapers in two arched candelabras illuminated the altar. An arrangement of large white mums and smaller white pom poms were centered on the altar with fern interspersed at intervals.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Grady Judah. Her A-line gown was of white bridal satin and featured long sleeves of scalloped lace. The veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations arranged on a white Bible.

Miss Beth Parris, of Elba, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Charlene Ellis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Brenda Hollinghead, sister of the groom.

The honor attendant wore a gift of china.

Attending the luncheon were: Miss Cooper's Mrs. Bancroft Cooper and Mrs. Neil Cooper, mother and grandmother of the bride; Mrs. G. E. Cole, respectively; Miss Mary Ann Hildreth, Mrs. Wayne Purvis, Miss Susan Hildreth and Mrs. Bill Hildreth, all of Enterprise; Miss Cheryl Cooper and pair of white china love birds, five branched silver candelabras holding red candles were placed on either side of the centerpiece. Napkin rings were fashioned of red felt tied with green bows and individual places were marked by miniature silver bells topped with red name tags.

a floor length gown of forest green crepe. The other attendants wore street length dresses also of forest green crepe. They each carried a long stemmed white mum.

Flower girls were Miss Rhonda Wilson, of Geneva, and Miss Suzie Judah, of Elba, both cousins of the bride. They wore matching street length dresses and carried baskets of white pom poms.

Mr. Joe Windham of Elba served as best man. Ushers were Jackie Hollinghead and Mike Russell, both of Elba, Gary Judah, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the wedding, the guests were entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with white linen overlaid with lace. Burning white tapers were centered on the table. Two punch bowls accented the end of the table. Punch was served by Mrs. June Judah of Elba, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Joyce Piland of Opp, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Karon Jewell of Elba. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was centered on the other end of the table. It was cut and served by Mrs. Maurine Lolley, cousin of the bride.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip to Florida.

Upon their return, the bride will make her home with her mother and continue her schooling at MacArthur Technical Institute while the groom serves a tour of duty in Vietnam with the United States army.

Rachel Gale Fuller To
Wed James Curtis Parrish

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Rachel Gale Fuller to James Curtis Parrish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Parrish, Balm, Florida, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Jackson, Jack, Alabama.

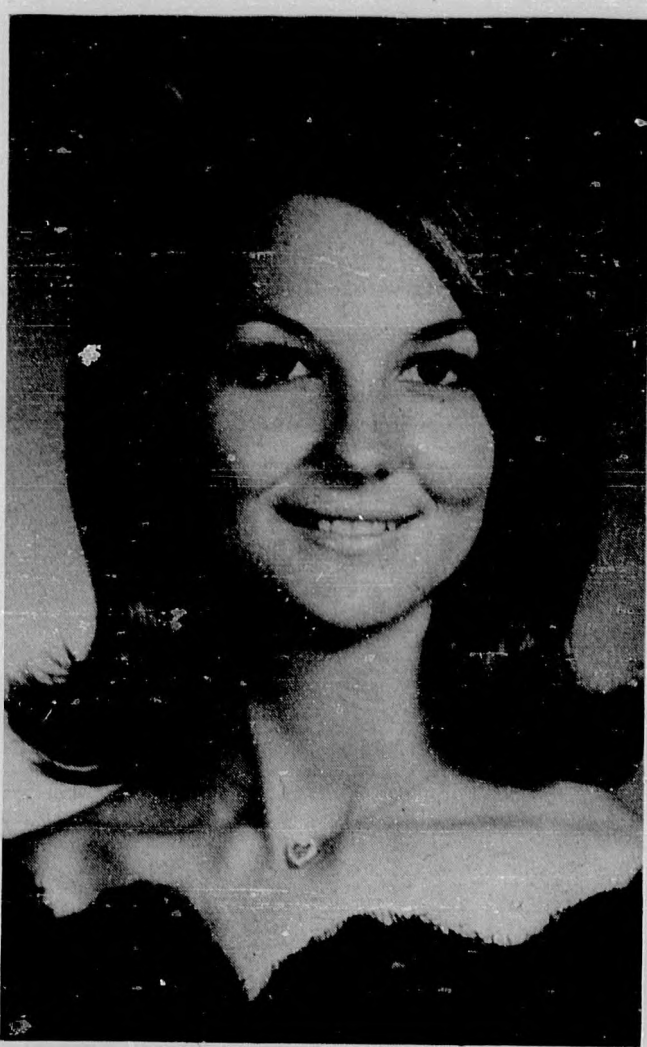

The wedding is planned for January 24th in the Zion Chapel Baptist Church.

Formal invitations are not being issued, but all friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

The bride-to-be is the granddaughter of Mrs. Lula Fuller and the late Mr. Fuller and the late Mr. Fuller.

Following their marriage, the couple will make their home in Florida.

To be sure it is nice to receive. The Bible grants that it is good to receive. "It is even more blessed to give than to receive." If you had been present at the Children's Party sponsored by the Brotherhood and Adult II Sunday School department of the First Baptist Church, I think I know it better now, while the groom serves a tour of duty in Vietnam with the United States army.

SUNDAY

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hillside gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life, peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

Jus' Ramblin'

WE HAVE NOW ENTERED the new year and a new era. We left the sixties with pleasant memories even though there were a few incidents that were not happy ones. Even so the pleasant ones are so superior to the unhappy ones that those unpleasant occasions are forgotten.

Even the one big unpleasant incident of the sixties ended up being a blessing in disguise. During the time it looked like an impossible situation and a hopeless thing and one that would leave a big scar, but now the scar is so small as to disappear and we're happy that we do not hold a grudge toward some we had thought of as friends prior to this particular incident and who made every effort to damage us as individuals. We're happy that we do not hold a grudge and that we have been able to erase the whole thing from our minds.

Now we're in the '70s and we go into it with bigger plans than we have ever approached for a new year. We are planning carefully but we also plan big things for the '70s. Whether those plans materialize is still a question but that will not enter into it nor be considered unless it should develop to be necessary.

We're certainly not complaining about the sixties. It was a most wonderful and profitable 10 years, the best of our life. For that we are thankful, not only to our good friends and customers but also to that almighty higher power we think is due the credit and is somehow responsible for what success we have enjoyed. Without that guidance we could not have overcome the stumbling blocks tossed in our path.

Now for the '70s and the beginning of another ten years of what we pray will be as successful as the past ten years have been.

We're thankful for so many things. We wish that we could in some way show our appreciation for the assistance of some real loyal friends. Since there is so little that we can do we pray earnestly for their welfare and for that guidance that we think is necessary for the success of all of us.

CHRISTMAS 1969 was really wonderful though by the time Santa Claus got here we were worn to a rag. It was a busy Christmas and a happy one. The children had a good time and even though the weather was really rough Christmas Day we had our Christmas dinner and two of my sisters, Hester Morgan of Andalusia and Libby Kimbro of Kinston came down to enjoy it with Larry and Merle and the children and Mack and I. We felt as if everyone "swam" in as they arrived and left the same way. But it was a wonderful Christmas and the weather did not dampen our spirits one bit.

AS ALWAYS there has to be a fly in the ointment. Now we have to start worrying about income tax. I tell you, if I knew how I would be just as guilty as anyone of being a tax dodger, a tax evader or a business crook. I'm just not smart enough to know how it's done. But I can assure you I'll utilize any legal means to minimize my tax burden. Anybody but a fool would and I don't consider myself a fool.

THE INDUSTRIAL NEWS Review sent out their regular bulletin after the beginning of the new year entitled "An Epoch Begins." Since this is so timely and well written we are going to quote this review.

"If we can land men on the moon, we can do anything. These or similar words expressing the same thought, have been uttered countless times since Neil Armstrong took his one small step in behalf of mankind last July on the surface of the moon. These words of confidence, unqualified and shared by millions, represented to a lot of people the most stirring single occurrence of the Year 1969. The great journey that inspired them may have opened a new epoch in human development, just as other great journeys have heralded fundamental change in the life of man."

"Christianity itself may well have begun with the travels of Jesus. Centuries later there were the Crusades, Marco Polo's legendary odyssey spread the knowledge of an Asian civilization. The voyages of Columbus and other early explorers opened a 'New World.' They triggered an explosion of Western civilization."

tion that ultimately reached the shores of the Pacific Ocean. Always, a single man or a small band of men by some unprecedented act of discovery has indelibly marked another age in the advancement of the human race. And so it was with the first step on the moon. Spontaneous expressions of bright certainty concerning our capabilities that swept the country and the world following that step gave immeasurable meaning to a year of uncertainty. The arms limitation talks are at last underway with the Soviet Union. Out of pure self-interest, the men meeting in Helsinki, Finland, would seem to have no alternative but to reach an understanding that will grant success from the nuclear shadow that hangs over all nations. So much for the good side.

On the darker side, we have the spectacle of the peace marchers, the defamations of the flag and violent, unreasoning opposition to everything American still very much in evidence in United States cities. We still have the problem of inflation, the problems of ghettos and crime, the problem of providing essential services to a rising population while still preserving the purity of air, water and soil. Too, at a time when Americans in unprecedented numbers are exhibiting an affluence that goes beyond all bounds of extravagance, we still have the issue of poverty. As the Nixon Administration attempts to throttle down the boom and place a curb on inflationary pressures, the business-as-usual game of politics makes the President fair game for those who hope to capitalize on the price that may have to be paid for "disinflation" - a rise in unemployment. As the year drew to a close, prices continued to rise, but the key business barometers signaled a slowdown. In Viet Nam, the Administration continued to hold its course of measured withdrawal of U. S. troops. The President's refusal to be forced into precipitate action by moratorium demonstrations, coupled with a sober Address asking for public support for his Viet Nam war policies, appeared to win approval.

One of the more inspiring domestic events occurred in the year when the nation turned out in tribute to General Dwight D. Eisenhower, at the close of a long and distinguished career. The ceremony that marked his passing showed that the "silent majority" of U. S. citizens hold an abiding sense of patriotism that should serve as a warning to those who tend to underestimate the character and the might of America.

The essence of the landings on the moon may elude our grasp for generations or centuries to come, yet the record on balance indicates that the U. S. and its millions of good citizens will be featured attractions in the unfolding story that began in epochal 1969."

THE SIXTIES will be remembered as the era of the "landings on the moon," or so it may be on the moon. It will be remembered as a particularly romantic year over and over again as many people have become sick of the diet of pictures and stories concerning raucous dissenters and unreasoning abuse of the United States system and its institution.

WE PLAN TO MAKE more trips during the '70s than we made during the sixties. We did manage to make a six week trip throughout the west during the early sixties and to make a trip to Nassau with newspaper folk. Early during the '70s we plan a trip to Mexico with newspaper folk and to make another trip to California and all the western states during the summer, going out by the southern route and returning by "El Al" is called the northern route which will include Yellowstone National Park. These are the trips we have planned for this year but it is hoped that we will not get so involved in some business venture that it becomes impossible for us to make other interesting trips each year during the '70s.

In the morning I'll direct my prayer unto thee... (Psalms 53:3 A.V.)

As we surrender ourselves to God—our plans for the day, our work, the schedule of our activities remain in balance. We let go any feeling of rush or hurry. We know what we need to do, on time and in perfect way. Let's ask God to show us how best to use our time and our talents, so that we may retain Divine order in all that we do.
